Supporting Finances in an Ever-Changing Market

GCR provides a full range of premium financial services and promotes stability in an ever-changing market. GCR's public finance group helps clients achieve their capital management goals in the municipal and public securities marketplace. GCR attorneys assist in finding creative and innovative solutions to the various types of debt-management issues facing clients. The firm's public finance attorneys have experience as bond counsel, disclosure counsel, general counsel and counsel to underwriters, issuers and borrowers of tax-exempt obligations in connection with:

- municipalities
- schools and school districts
- colleges and universities
- redevelopment agencies
- airports
- transportation authorities
- special purpose districts
- water districts

GCR attorneys have been responsible for the preparation of the necessary resolutions, ordinances, minutes, closing documents, opinions, certificates, memoranda and other documents necessary for the issuance and sale of the obligations being issued. The GCR team prepares all the applicable and necessary legal documents, participates in client meetings and negotiations with third parties, and renders advice regarding compliance with applicable state and federal securities laws and regulations. Due to the experience GCR attorneys have serving as city attorneys or general counsel to public entities, they are sensitive to the needs and rights of governmental issuers.

When serving as bond counsel, it is the firm's practice to retain specialized tax counsel to prepare the tax certificate and ensure compliance with applicable tax regulations.
